

JUDAH TRUST

This little poem was written whilst struggling with fear about the need to get tested

From Darkness To Light

Lord, I feel afraid.
Is this scared feeling ever gonna fade?
All my hopes, all my dreams -
They won't come true now, that's how it seems.
It's devastating, it's so real and so fast,
Will this heavy feeling go? How long will it last?

*Lord, I feel like I'm falling!
Down, down, down I go!
Lord! Can't you hear me calling?!
How much further? Only you can know.*

Lord, if I've got it - see I can't even say it's name,
Lord, is this for real? Or is it all a game?
What promises can I lean on? What is it that you say?
"Don't you worry or be anxious, just trust me and obey"
Lord, I need more than that to get me through each day.
"I will never leave you or forsake you - whatever comes your way"

*Lord, I feel like I'm falling!
Down, down, down I go!
Lord! Can't you hear me calling?!
How much further? Only you can know.*

I need to be tested, I know, but I'm scared,
I should have done it before now, but I've never dared.
If I just ignore it, will it go away?
Or will this fear I have in my heart be always here to stay?
I've got to take courage, I've got to be brave - but I'm not!
I need to be tested, to see what I have got.

*Lord, I feel like I'm falling!
Down, down, down I go!
Lord! Can't you hear me calling?!
How much further? Only you can know.*
